

July 2017

Commercial Litigation Lawyer Melbourne Office

Role

DSS Law is seeking a full time, mid-level Commercial Litigation Lawyer to join their Melbourne CBD office.

The ideal applicant will have 2 – 4 years PAE in a commercial litigation role. You will be able to work autonomously and will be responsible for running your own file load with assistance from senior lawyers (where necessary). You will also be adept at doing your own court appearances.

Other skills and experience the role requires include:

- Solid negotiation and dispute resolution skills
- The ability to provide a professional and cost effective legal service
- Well developed interpersonal, communication and consultation skills
- The ability to build and maintain positive working relationships with clients
- A demonstrated ability to work effectively as a member of a friendly, professional team and to achieve client and litigation time frames
- The ability to be self managed and be self motivated
- A demonstrated ability to meet and aim to exceed set targets for billable hours.

About DSS Law

With offices in Brisbane and Melbourne, DSS Law has built a strong reputation as a trusted advisor in the areas of litigation, property, commercial, corporate, insolvency, and wills & estates.

Our highly skilled and experienced lawyers are known for their reliable and responsive service and commitment to building long-term, trusted relationships with their clients.

We believe our lawyers' focus on delivering excellent client service and providing customised legal solutions is what sets us apart from other firms.

DSS Law prides itself on hiring competent individuals and we reward self-starters who continually strive for personal and professional growth.

Apply

If you thrive on new experiences, want an environment that gives you the freedom to respond to new opportunities and are motivated by the possibility of putting your stamp on the combined growth of our firm – this job is for you.

In return we offer a generous incentive scheme as well as work life balance and the ability to work with flexibility.

Interested applicants to email applications to: r.pappagallo@dsslaw.com.au