

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASEMEDIA RELEASE*DSS LAW APPOINTS NEW PARTNER & SPECIAL COUNSEL

DSS Law has recently appointed a new partner to the firm, Ben Skinner, to lead DSS Law's Melbourne Litigation team. With more than twelve years' experience, including as owner and founder of a boutique legal practice in Melbourne, Mr Skinner delivers a pragmatic focus to complex legal solutions underpinned by commercial acumen.

DSS Law has also welcomed Lee McCallum (Special Counsel, Brisbane office), Amy Weiner (Senior Associate, Melbourne office) and Bek Cetinkaya (Solicitor, Melbourne office).

DSS Law Managing Director, David Sorban, says the appointment of the four new lawyers will bring more than twenty years' combined experience in the legal industry to the existing DSS Law firm.

"Ben, Amy, Bek and Lee are exceptional additions to our firm and we are proud to have such formidable advocates for our clients within the DSS Law team.

"DSS Law is synonymous with commercial and corporate law but is expanding the areas in which we service our clients, including personal injury with the addition of Ms McCallum. I am very excited about what our firm will achieve for our clients in 2019 with our new staff members," Mr Sorban said.

Strengthening the diverse background of DSS Law's solicitors, Lee McCallum has joined the Brisbane team having previously completed active service in the Royal Australian Navy. Ms McCallum has more than eleven years' experience and specialises in institutional sexual abuse, workplace accidents, catastrophic injuries and motor vehicle claims.

Amy Weiner has joined the Melbourne team as Senior Associate, and is based in the Litigation and Insolvency team. Bringing a wealth of experience in commercial litigation, Ms Weiner achieves her clients' commercial objectives through building trusted professional relationships.

Bek Cetinkaya is part of the DSS Law Litigation team and is based also in the DSS Law Melbourne office. Bek specialises in commercial litigation and alternative dispute resolution, while also being experienced in both minor and complex litigious matters.
